Property Description

Every once in a while a true legacy property becomes available and this incredible 455 hectare/1,124 acre offering is certainly one of the most unique examples in Costa Rica. The "Waterfall to Waterfall" farm is a truly impressive landmass nestled in the heart of the spectacular Diamante Valley, well-known as a vibrant and organic gem in the mountains of the southern zone, due to its abundant pure land and the feeling of being immersed in the natural wonders of Mother Earth. With incredible biodiversity given its unique location within the Paso de la Danta (The Path of the Tapir) biological corridor, this massive property occupies the bulk of the terrain located between the beautiful San Luis waterfall (300-feet tall) and the mighty Diamante waterfall (the tallest waterfall in the country, with a staggering 600-foot run of cascades). The vast majority of the property boasts incredible ocean views, and the upper ridges of the property also have amazing views of the Talamanca mountain range, which includes views of Mount Chirripo, the tallest non-volcanic mountain in Central America at 12,533-feet above sea level.
